

PALETTE Perfection!

From calming combinations of neutrals to colour-studded palettes in green, blue, red and more, here's how hues work together to unify rooms and create eye-catching contrasts...

Impressions: Kannagi Desai and Ruhi Singh

DARK WITH WARM TONES

A dark green sofa can be an eyesore or a gem, depending on its surroundings. With the right colours and accessories to complement it, the dark green fabric gives the room a lush, rich style. Use warm colours like orange or yellow to lend a cosier feeling but with a royal twist. Keep accessories on the darker side of the warm colour palette, like dark pink and even a darker shade of fuchsia. Add a bit of glamour with some over the top sequinned cushions — a great icing on an already delicious cake!

CREAM WITH PALE GREEN ACCENTS

Create an effortless and versatile colour scheme by combining cream with green. The trick is to keep the values of each colour consistent. For instance, the green plant and the pale green frame on the table or the cream study with a chair of the same hue. To prevent monochromatic colour from being monotonous, introduce textured walls and décor accessories in the same palette.

Red, Blue & Yellow

TURQUOISE WITH FESTIVE COLOURS

The colour turquoise is blue with yellow in it, giving it a blue-green tone. It can be light or dark, more green or more yellow. Making it work with the colours that made it is the best bet at hitting the right spot! Whether it's a bright hot pink, or a dark mauve, these colours lend a delightfully feminine twist to your space.

Red, Blue & Yellow

